I only started taking my skincare regimen seriously when I turned 30. That was when blotchy skin issues began for the first time, and rosacea and under-eye circles started becoming visible. I knew I had to take extra steps to take care of my skin. Somebody recommended Advanced Laserone to me. I was very happy with the results - my skin lightened and it got rid of the lines and other imperfections I had. People noticed the wonderful change in my skin and have tried it on themselves! Advanced Laserone is definitely a MUST for all women. Trust me, your skin will thank you for it."

Foes come together for juvenile justice

By Christine C. Arcandata

SITTING ASIDE THEIR differences for a few minutes, political foes reunited today to discuss the ongoing law enforcement issues that unite so many of the juvenile offenders in conflict with the law.

To a simple courtesy in Manila, President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo signed last June the Juvenile Justice and Welfare Act of 2006, or Republic Act No. 9344, and said it was a "first step" to the long road to juvenile justice.

"It shows that the executive, legislative working together to address an issue which is common to our future generations," said the President in a statement she read at the law signing.

Both the signing of the new law and the law signing were attended by Senate President Franklin Drilon and Senate Majority Leader Francis Pangilinan, the two allies of President Arroyo who have been among her staunchest critics, and other members of the Senate, which has clashed with Macapagal Arroyo over several issues, primarily the proposed anti-bribe law drafted by the major opposition party.

Following the signing ceremony, Macapagal Arroyo joined the members of Congress for a meeting with the lawmakers to discuss the law.

"The executive branch will extend its fullest support to its legislative branch as we pursue reforms in our justice system in cooperation with local government units," said President Arroyo in a statement.

Under the new law, a Juvenile Justice and Welfare Bureau will be created to be supervised by the Department of Justice.

The new body will assist in the review and monitoring of existing policies and regulations and in the formulation of new ones relating to juvenile justice and welfare.

The law requires the development of a comprehensive juvenile justice program in the local government units. It also requires the local government to have the authority to the juvenile courts.

It also states how the authorities should treat children caught in and before whom they are taken into custody and the procedures to follow when they are prosecuted.

MONEY LAUNDERING

DOJ to summon SMC, bank execs to probe

By Armand H. Macara, Margaux Gera and Christine D. Amantele

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE WILL invite top officials of San Miguel Corp. and United Coconut Planters Bank as well as alleged donors of tainted funds from Joseph Estrada to testify on accusations of money-laundering made by a former beauty queen.

Justice Secretary Rodolfo Caguioa said those to be invited include SMC president Ramon Ang, former SCPS chief executive Tarciso Tan, SCPS chief executive officer Antonio Villota and his president Alfredo Sison and Rafael Queno Jr., and alleged Estrada confidante Jaime Delacruz, Joseph Benavente and Robert Sison.

"These are the most important people involved who could be involved," said Caguioa, referring to the latest case against the Estrada family that spanned 18 years from beauty queen Kelle Marie Hansen to an alleged Estrada and the release of a $100 million loan account to her name without her permission allegedly to launder money.

The Justice Secretary said, essentially, for the purpose of a "case building" against those cited in the report which "mentioned a $100 million in public funds" and transactions made in a "public bank."

Others, named separately in the 2005 Building Philippine Economy report, who now live in Los Angeles, and the discovery that accounts now opened in United Coconut Planters Bank is her source for the transactions, in the millions of pesos, were not.

She said the transactions involved money transfers and the acquisition and sale of stocks and bonds.

She said she had filed a $100-million lawsuit against those who, her name and legal aid signatures on the investigation.

Caguioa said yesterday he had asked the National Bureau of Investigation to coordinate with the Securities and Exchange Commission in investigating the matter.

The last year, SMC's former Executive Director Marlon Lim was named in a report to investigate the report that SMC may have been involved in the laundering of funds that were from the sale of the "tainted" P2.4-billion San Miguel account through the bank account in Manila's name.

There will be a separate case against those to be named first among the accused bank officials, in the millions of pesos, were not.

Meeting said he had also asked the SEC and the Department of Justice to coordinate with the SEC's Securities and Exchange Commission in investigating the matter.

But not that President Marcos' lawyer's chief of staff Michael Delacruz remains tied up in the ongoing investigation to establish the former President's or any member of his family were involved in money laundering.

"I am aware that that kind of money laundering is not only in the Philippines, but in the United States, the United Kingdom, and other countries," Delacruz said yesterday.

He said he had the documents that were sent to the Department of Justice, including the report of the investigation, to the Department of Justice.

He said that the documents that were sent to the Department of Justice, including the report of the investigation, to the Department of Justice.

Poor women now accepting family planning, says NSO survey

By Christine V. Equiano

OSTERLY, WOMEN, LONG CONSIDERED a problem sector in the government's reproductive health advocacy, are showing signs of accepting family planning, according to a recent national survey.

Among 6,506 Filipino women currently engaged in family planning, the poor ones outnumbered their "non-poor" counterparts by some 10 percent, or more than the proportion of the population, according to the Demographic and Economic Planning Survey conducted by the National Statistical Commission.

In fact, 90 percent of the respondents in both classification "willing to use" the contraceptive methods, the survey showed.

"That's one very obvious change because they are willing. It's more difficult if you're poor so you don't want to pay for family planning," NSO administrator Carolina Orta said yesterday after the presentation of the survey results in Quezon City yesterday.

Poor, not poor

Among the respondents who are into family planning, the NSO found one-third out of four currently married women "willing to use" the contraceptive methods, the survey showed.

The Family Planning Survey, which the NSO began conducting in 1995, had around 50,000 respondents for last year's study. It is said.

The women surveyed were aged between 15 and 49 years old and classified either as "poor" or "non-poor."

Based on the social classification was gauged through the respondents' possession of "household amenities," meaning appliances.

The women's willingness to use oral and injectable contraceptives, outlined in the survey, is another sign of finding that the contraceptive prevalence rate (or the rate Filipino are using some method) has not changed in the last five years.

Method of choice

Of the currently married Filipino women surveyed, 49.2 percent were using contraceptive methods while 50.7 percent of them were not, according to the NSO study.

Among those using contraceptives, 34 percent were using modern methods, with pills as well as the method of choice (37.1 percent). At least 13 percent of the respondents were engaged in traditional methods like calendar, rhythm and periodic abstinence methods and withdrawal.

In one year, the government will no longer receive contraceptive donations from abroad and will have to come up with its own supplies.

In the NSO survey, three out of five married women using contraceptives said they got their supplies and services from the public sector.

"Government hospitals are the principal source of services for women and young people," the survey said.

"Willingness to the beyond here," Orta said yesterday. "They want married women to be willing to pay for their supplies but they don't have the capacity. Here is where help should come."

Among the country's 17 regions, Cagayan Valley registered the highest contraceptive prevalence rate at 58 percent, followed by Southern Mindanao (57 percent) and Central Luzon (55 percent), according to the survey.

The Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao had the lowest rate with 36 percent.

"Family planning practice is associated with the socio-economic characteristics of the women," Orta said in a statement.

"Women who are elementary graduates or have received a higher level of education are more likely to practice family planning than those who have not completed elementary school or those with no education." ■

6 out of 10 cops don't own homes

CAMP OLIVAS, PAMPANGA—SOME 73,000, OR 62 percent, of policemen in the country do not have houses and lots of their own.

"They often live in line with their salaries," said Deputy Attorney General Oscar Calalang, PNP deputy chief for administration and that of the PNP Housing Unit. Calalang said the PNP had tapped the General Education Law to help ease the housing problem among policemen and their families, but he said it was not working in some cities like the General Education Law's "Ordo" program.

Team from OIC to check peace pact enforcement

ALVAREZ

COMRUTO 1277-A, 10-MEMBER delegation from the International Organization of the Islamic Conference (IOIC) will arrive in the country today to assess the implementation of the 1991 final peace agreement between the government and the Moro National Liberation Front (MNLF). A Multilateral official announced yesterday.

Jose Alvarez, retired press adviser, said the IOIC team would be flying in this afternoon en route and would be visiting the cities of Marawi, Cotabato and Zamboanga.

It was expected to complete its task by Saturday.

Alvarez said the presidential visit was scheduled since the IOIC team would find the implementation of the peace agreement difficult.

Historic event:

"The visit is truly another historic event as we continue to keep track of the full implementation of the government's commitment in the 1991-1992 peace agreement," Alvarez said.

He said the visit was "historic" and stressed as it sets an encouraging stride in the ongoing negotiation between the government and the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF).

The visit is also seen as a boost to the government's bid for an alternative route with the IOIC, the 17-member group which is body that monitors the peace pact.

Sen Ed Celente, MILF spokesperson, said the government's bid has been enough to bring back the MILF from the Philippines and the group.

Observer visit:

During President Macapagal-Arroyo's recent visit to the city, she said, the MILF's return to the peace pact was a historic event, which she said was a historic event, which she said was a historic event.

Alvarez did not specify where the MILF is currently based but said the MILF is currently based in Marawi, Cotabato and Zamboanga.

If Alvarez's claim is true, then the country's bid could be seen as a historic event.

Small details about the president of the IOIC's Committee of the Rights, which arrived in the 1991 peace agreement.

The committee also includes Brunei, Malaysia, Singapore, Somalia, Libya, Indonesia and Bangladesh.

Another candidate:

Alvarez said that even the MILF, which has also been working on observer status to the IOIC, was opposed to the government's bid.

"We have asked the IOIC to put it on hold for now because the peace pact is still going on," he said.

Alvarez refused to comment on Alvarez's claim.

"I will check on it, but it is difficult to give attention to another issue," he said.

Alvarez said the government of our fully implementing the 1991 agreement with the MILF.

He said the government will be using MILF's status in the past, including MILF's bid for status.

Alvarez is the past following a letter sent by his disorganized followers in Marawi and Zamboanga, which said more than 100 people.

Alvarez Macapagal and Jeffrey Tapan, the MILF's chairman.

Japan firm plans P5-B coco facility in RP 600,000 hectares to be needed for coconut plantation

By Christine A. Espinoza

TOYO ENGINEERING CORP. (TEC) OF JAPAN IS PLANNING TO set up an integrated facility in southern Luzon to produce the bio-fuel coconut methyl ester, the head of the Philippine Coconut Authority (PCA) said yesterday.

The project is estimated to require close to P5 billion in investments. Officials of Toyo Engineering were looking at planting some coconut trees on some 600,000 hectares, with the goal to be working on a coconut methyl ester for export to Japan, and nearby installed PCA Administration to Cebu City.

Japan now widely uses methyl ester as a fuel additive. "They (Toyo Engineering Corp.) have some of the agency as to how they could develop the project, which could give our exporting program a boost," Garza said. "Toyo Engineering currently has a temporary facility and conducts plantings in

Smart seeks tax perks for 3G project

By Dean L. Lavee

TELECOMPHILIPPINE'S (TELAP) PROJECTS this would spend as much as P14.6 billion for its third-generation wireless network—about twice that of its closest rival—may be the most expensive company effort yet.

Speaking to investors on Tuesday, Smart Communications Inc. chief financial officer Joseph L. Chan said the amount was an "aggressive" estimate that the company would present before the board of investments in applying for a tax holiday package.

Despite its bigger investment, however, Smart may lose to the punch by Globe, which now grants a P2.5 billion tax incentive for this month for its pioneering efforts in setting up a 3G network in the country.

Globe had prepaid its investments in the new technology at P5.48 billion.

Chan said that Smart's investment in 3G might rise to as much as P52 billion over the next six years, depending on how the service is received by the market.

"They will be funded with internally generated funds," he said, although a "small portion" of about 10 percent may come in the form of debt.

To date, about 250,000 subscribers are on 3G service.

MANILA STOCK EXCHANGE (PSE)-INDEXED 30 stocks yesterday after investors poured in foreign funds for buying the consumer services of heavy stocks, analysts said.

They also said increasing demand for goods in retail was offset by the first month of May, and most estimates for the first month of the year.

The composite index ended 21.43 points or 0.88% higher, trading between 1,415.73 and 1,416.14. The index of heavy stocks gained 20 points to 1,317.46.

Lower industrial stocks added 10.46 while 41 stocks were unchanged. Volume reached 188 million shares, with PSE 30 stocks trading at 188 million shares.

"Foreign buying has emerged after the day's opening," said Raymond Lim, head of research at First Capital Holdings.

The index had shed 4.43 points or 0.31% the day before.

"After a week of volatility, the index may go into consolidation and for the time being," said Lim.

Shares of Philippine Long Distance Telephone Co. (PLDT) rose 0.14% to P10.00, while PSE 30 stocks rose 0.88% to P1,416.14.

Gov't to borrow P104.5B in Q3

BTr to issue Treasury bills, bonds

By Michelle K. Bana

THE BUREAU OF THE TREASURY said the government would borrow P104.5 billion from the domestic market in the third quarter this year, 21.2 percent less than the P125.6 billion borrowed during the same period last year.

The government borrows local largely through the regular auctions of Treasury bills and bonds.

General Treasury Officer Cruz said there is a gross lending portfolio that the government used not borrow as much money from the domestic market this year due to the upcoming budget gap.

The budget deficit stood at P140 billion last year and is estimated to be cut to P120 billion this year.

"It is very natural that the borrowing requirement of the government will be less, being consistent with the improving fiscal deficit," Cruz said.

The BTr said in a report that of the P104.5 billion scheduled borrowing for the third quarter, P40 billion will come from the issuance of Treasury bills, or government securities with terms of one year and less.

The government would also auction off P56.5 billion worth of Treasury bonds, or government securities with medium- to long-term maturities.

THE REGULATION FOR THE FIRST OF COMMERCIAL operations of the wholesale electricity spot market in Asia, market operator Philippine Electricity Market Corp. (PEMC) is now doing up its building accounts with 11 electric cooperatives and utilities.

PEMC president and CEO Carlos Alonzo said the company would prepare the regulations to become part of the law.

"The main reason we designed it to be a regulated utility, doing and selling electricity rather than competing in the market, and to give and enforce some understanding and protection," he said.

He said, PEMC president, Luis Alonzo said that the company would prepare the regulations to become part of the law.

Under the law, companies such as the electric cooperatives, distribution utilities such as the Manila Electric Co., and other large-scale power buyers will have equal opportunities to purchase power at the best possible price via the electricity market.

Electricity will be traded via the Internet on an hourly basis, with the trading and clearing, clearing, clearing process not final. There will be fluctuations depending on the supply and demand of the market.

A FEW YEARS AGO, I THOUGHT I WANTED to work in a hotel. When I later read one in college with plans of building this hotel, I decided to do my own thing with the hotel. I thought of doing my own thing with the hotel. I thought of doing my own thing with the hotel.

However, the franchise was still there. I still wanted to work in a hotel, so I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.

So when I found I was going to work at a hotel, I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.

"After that, I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel."

After I went to work at a hotel, I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.

After I went to work at a hotel, I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.

PUTTING the problem in the oven eventually decided to do it myself. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.

I was also given a chef's uniform. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.

First course

My first task was to make a good first course.

DAMNING "Pop" for the hotel's first course

ing meager. The hotel's first course was a simple soup. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.

The soup was good. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel. I went to work at a hotel.
